EXCISE LEGISLATION.

The importance of prompt yet thoughtful action in the matter of a new Excise Law for the State cannot easily be overestimated. The present tangled, patched and garbled statutes are equal almost to no regulation of the liquor traffic. Weaknesses in one section and another affect and obstruct the operation of the whole law.A measure intended as a substitute for all existing statutes on the subject was introduced yesterday in both branches of the State Legislature. It should receive most careful consideration in all its details. The present tangled, patched and garbled statutes are equal almost to no
regulation of the liquor traffic. Weak-
and obstruct the operation of the whole law.An Excise Law finally adopted must be one that will stand the test of years of practical operation. Not such a one as will need a patch here and a patch there at each annual session of the law-makers.
It must be a considerate, a just, an impartial measure; one which, because of its firmness and firmness, can command respect and receive enforcement and support.A feature of the bill now proposed is its provision for moderate Sunday selling.
THE EVENING WORLD has spoken repeatedly in favor of such a provision. In doing so it believes it has voiced a public sentiment sufficiently strong to be heeded by the legislators.Three Philadelphia toughs lately kicked a man to death in the street. In their innocent Quaker-Chiay way they undoubtedly had much sport at the time.
Now they have got five years each for the job. A great many people would have been pleased to see them get twenty, but probably the sentence is enough to make all three wish the hoods that inflicted that brutal kick had been on other fellows' heads.This may be true. It may bring that quiet quaintly dressed Quaker to his senses.
A set of tall, athletic hoodlums imagine will not keep your head in their hands if you try to kick them. They have got to be told that the undeniably power of arrest is far greater than the power of self-defense.
The world will be better off if they are sent to prison for life.Rich silver discoveries in the "Jack-Pot" claim at Creede, Colo., are causing the town to grow at the rate of several hundred people per day. It is feared that many of the boomers, after making all preparations to get into the game, will find themselves unprovided with "openers."It is soberly announced that McTigue has challenged Sullivan. Unless John L. has changed his mind about what he would do the next time he caught Charley in a ring the Englishman appears, in intent, to be pretty nearly necessary before the fact in a case of manslaughter.A pair of Pennsylvania lovers, without money to clothe the usual way, walked one hundred and ten miles to get a license and a certificate in New Jersey. Love found a way, indeed; but he must have been frightfully footsore.Ben Butler's autobiography is out.
What effect his confessions may have on the Supreme Court, where he has just signed the Chicago Anarchist cases, must be a question causing extreme anxiety on the part of his clients.New York capitalists have bought $3,000,000 worth of World's Fair bonds.
Chicago seems well content to press the button and let other people's money do the rest. But the Fair must and will be a success.A Fort Dodge (Ia.) man is laughing himself to death over a comic song. Evidently there are styles of Western humor which need to be taken in small doses.

Prevent the Crip.

Dr. Cyrus Edson of the New York Board of Health says that to prevent the grippe should your strength, your blood vessels and your kidneys be kept in good condition, and your heart in regular action. The tonic and alterative effects of Hood's Sarsaparilla so happily meet the last three conditions, that with the protection given by this medicine you need not fear the grippe.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

The new medicine and a single bottle may save many dollars in doctor's bills and much suffering. Truly, an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.HOOD'S PILLS are the best family carboand liver medicine. Harmless, reliable, rare.

BEWARE OF QUARRELS.

To the Editor: I don't like the word "manage," because I think husband and wife should have equal rights.I beware of the first quarrel; be patient and forgiving; don't argue; don't expect to find perfection; don't try to make a cynic of your husband in everything, and try to please him in all things.Be loving, kind and gentle, and you are very sure to keep his love. A.

A ROSSETTE YOKERS View.

To the Editor: By making myself attractive in person and by cultivation of my intellect, I will make it necessary to my husband's happiness. His home shall be so bright and pleasant that he will be compelled to turn his face homeward, and here will meet all the attention of a tired man needs.I will help him to entertain his friends, and always have a good welcome for them. I will help him to avoid getting his temper out, will make for the summer outfit. Any garment fit for school is good enough for church, or that is the opinion of some very sensible and gentle mothers.This is a good time to buy sheet-sold linen such as towels, sheets and tablecloths.Hooded capes and cloaks are fashionable in the heavier type of wrap, such as would be selected for traveling and bad weather; but handsome guipure and passementerie figure on the more elegant capes.Walter Campbell would like to fight eight ights. Mrs. Breslin, Jack Horner or Frank White, or any other light-weight in the city for a price of $300 or $500.George Hogan, the game and clever lightweight pugilist, who recently defeated Kelly, champion lightweight of Pennsylvania, will be held up to the highest standard by the Secretary a list of fighters from whom the teams will be selected prior to Feb. 29.There has been considerable discussion on the date, but nothing definite has been agreed upon."Mr. Barnes of New York," will begin a
